

Course Description Form

Course number and section: CCS 506

Course Topic: MFA Graduate Colloquium I

Credits: 3

Term: 2022W1

Instructor: Nancy Holmes

Course Description (aim for no more than 80 – 100 words for your course description):

This is the required methods and methodology course for a graduate degree in fine arts. A significant part of the work in the MFA degree is learning how to think, write and talk about advanced artistic practice. The goal is to focus on core questions relevant to all artists, talk about the artist in the university, discuss current conversations happening in artistic fields today, and give students a solid foundation for thriving in the MFA degree.

Tentative Reading List:

There will be a list of selected readings from the Library Online Course Reserves.

Other: This is an interdisciplinary course that includes all MFA students in Visual Arts, Creative Writing and Interdisciplinary Studies.
