

Course number and section: CORH 331 001

Course Topic: Social Writing: Studies in Multimodal Communication

Credits: 3

Term: 2022 W T1

Instructor: Anita Chaudhuri

Course Description:

The course takes a practice-based approach to social writing that connects individual thought, expression, and action to digital platforms. Such public forums of interaction can inform, persuade, and challenge individual preferences, which indicate the complexity of interaction between semiotic systems. Students will study and create their own multimodal texts to critically engage with composition and communication strategies in social writing.

Other: