

Course Description Form

Course number and section: FREN380B

Course Topic: More than Poutine and Céline: an introduction to Quebec Culture & Society (Selected Studies in French)

Credits: 3

Term: 2022W2

Instructor: Francis Langevin

Course Description (aim for no more than 80 – 100 words for your course description):

[Taught in ENGLISH] Rooted in current conversations on migration, race, gender and reconciliation, this course introduces students to the core of the Québécois and “Canadien” imaginary through a critical look at its themes (land, language, family) through close-reading and analysis of its fictions (novel, TV & film). This course is offered in English and is ideal for third year elective and counts as “Canadian Studies”. Any student with third year standing is permitted to take this course. Students are allowed to take FREN 380 without the French prerequisite. *May be taken for credit toward the French Major or Minor, and the Languages Major if coursework is submitted in French.

Tentative Reading List: (Be as concise as possible with your reading list, but please also specify the genre of each required text. See sample below)

Other: